About this container

The 6.1m (20ft) long 33.1m³ is one of the most common types of container used in the shipping industry, it has been the workhouse of shipping since the inception of the ISO container in the early 1970's.

They come in a variety of grades and colours, and are used for a multitude of purposes, from basic storage, for re-export, for conversion into modular housing, as tunnels and culverts, and pretty much anything you can put your imagination to.

Pricing of used containers varies according to grade and market supply parameters.

Boxman containers

The vast majority of Boxman used containers are still perfectly serviceable, they have simply been retired out of shipping through the natural renewal cycle that occurs in the shipping industry.

At Boxman we believe our best attribute is providing value for money in matching our customers with the container that best suits their overall needs, taking into account budget, timing and any specific requirements.

At Boxman we strive to purchase the best quality containers we can, consequently over the 20 years of operation since 1990, Boxman Group has garnered a reputation for supplying the highest quality second hand container equipment available in the used market.

We offer a refurbishment service, whereby B through to A grade equipment can be cleaned down and repainted according to the customers requirements.

Container features

Unless requested differently, all Boxman used containers are full weatherproof, vermin proof and lockable, providing the best possible security for your goods.

We are able to provide additional lock-boxes and venting if required.

We believe that our grading system allows for the best possible value for money proposition in the industry with quality ranging from Food Grade to Industrial purposes and everywhere in between.

Boxman can also provide a re-certification service so that used containers can be CSC Plated to allow for coastal and international shipping.
