About this container

Featuring ply lining on the interior walls, tie rails on the side walls and roof, along with doors at both ends, this container offers the maximum flexibility when it comes to moving precious cargo.

The container has been built to a High-Cube specification, offering an extra 300mm of head space, which in a 6.1m (20ft) long container creates an extra 3.6m<sup>3</sup> of usable volume.

Boxman containers

This container has been specifically designed and manufactured according to Boxman Group specifications to cater for long term storage and transportation of furniture. The container is maintained to a 'Food Grade' quality standard, ensuring the best possible equipment is available at all times.

Container features

New build Boxman containers are built to the highest industry specification. They all feature high strength, corrosion resistant steel and additional vents to prevent condensation. Polyurethane coated floors for easy cleaning and security lock-boxes are standard.

All Boxman containers are CSC plated to allow for coastal and international shipping.

Boxman's new build container features

1. Lock-box

The security lock-box features a covered tab to which a padlock can be fixed. The solid construction will deter even the most determined of thieves.

2. Varnished floor

Most Boxman containers feature a coated polyurethane floor. This reduces maintenance and cleaning costs.

3. Extra Ventilation

All Boxman new build containers are fitted with a minimum of four vents to reduce the risk of condensation and sweating.

4. Higher handles

All Boxman new build containers feature higher handles. This is a great feature that will save your back, and make it much easier to get the leverage you need to open up your container.

High-Cube furniture box features

Ply lining

Ply lining allows for easy movement of furniture in and out of the container, by preventing it catching on the corrugations of the container side walls. This feature also helps to prevent damage to furniture in transit.

The full length tie rails on the side walls and roof allow for maximum flexibility as to where tie ropes and cargo nets can be fastened.
